

“Color Your World” Senior DECA Project

King Philip DECA has yet again taken advantage of the program in order to do good. Our names are Lexi Mutascio and Mackenzie Dyke and for our senior DECA project we decided to make a difference in the world. We founded our non profit, known as “Color Your World” or CYW for short, in order to help out hurricane relief. We felt a sense of self responsibility to help out those struggling despite the fact we were not directly affected. We could not stand by while watching and hearing about these horrendous realities that occurred and ARE STILL occurring. We understand that natural disasters are uncontrollable and these victims need our help! We’re committed to investing our expertise and resources in order to further achieve our cause. We are selling handmade tie-dye shirts to help recolor the lives and areas affected by these hurricanes. We hope our CYW shirts remind our customers that everyone deserves a colorful life and journey. Let’s help our fellow people in their journey. Just imagine what we can achieve together! Buy a CYW Shirt or donate on our new website! Thank you!
